Encourage Reading

By Dr. R. Pletsch

I served on an area wide committee with five other Catholic School other Catholic School principals. There were also a few parents from each of these schools. We had been assigned the task that seemed unattainable. That was how we get kids to read actual books, not on Nook or Kindle, at home.

The parents became sort of a jury. While the principals brought up ideas, the parents looked for reasons why they may or may not work. The parents were enthusiastic, but at first seldom con-ents were enthusiastic, but at first seldom contributed ideas. This did not seem to bother anyone. Later, some of the parents felt at ease enough to put some of their own ideas before the group. One of their ideas was using the PTO to donate prizes. Each donate prizes. Each school decided on that guideline separately depending on how active their PTO was.

I checked my notes on the subject and visited the one principal in our group that has not retired. She still shows these ideas to her parents and staff. She said that some of the kids even look forward to it and call it ment among most was excellent. Of course, we never got everyone, but we tried. This is parent involvement. We grade and post results but we don't give them back. This prevents future students from copying the synopsis. Most schools seem to have used these for weekends when it is easier to find a schedule for the particular family. Sometimes with working parents, there never seems to be enough time on the weekdays.

Amur Tiger Tests Positive For COVID-19

An 11-year-old Amur tiger at Brookfield Zoo has positive COVID-19. Malena began showing evidence of mild respiratory illness last week, including lethargy, coughing, and sneezing, which are symptoms consistent with what other zoos have seen in big cats with COVID-19. Samples were submitted to the University of Illinois Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory and the USDA's National Veterinary Services Laboratories, the government agency responsible for monitoring and reporting all positive cases in animals. Malena's prognosis is good based on the illness in big cats at other zoos, according to Dr. Mike Adkesson, vice president of clinical medicine for the Chicago Zoological Sociwhich manages Brookfield Zoo. "Malena is an older tiger and therefore at an elevated risk. However, she's in good

County Treasurer Plans Tax Sale

Cook County Treasurer Maria Pappas will conduct the first sale in more than two years of delinquent Cook County proeprty taxes on Nov. 5th, 2021.

About $163.4 million in unpaid 2018 property taxes (that were to be paid in 2019) is due on 36,000 homes, businesses and land. Less than $1,000 is owed on 11,744 properties in Chicago and 7,700 properties in suburban Cook County.

Owners of those properties will receive a certified mailing informing them that their unpaid taxes are scheduled to be sold, which would put a lien against their proper-ties. It is the first step in the process that can end with the loss of a prop-

Owners can avoid the Tax Sale by paying the delinquent taxes and in-terest before the sale be-gins. To see if your taxes are delinquent - and to make a payment - visit cookcountytreasurer.com and select "Avoid the Tax Sale." You can search by address or by Property Index Number.

Owners may be unaware that the taxes on their properties are headed to the Tax Sale be-cause the U.S. Postal Service has returned bills and subsequence notices on 17,702 properties.

Also, as many as 207 seniors may be missing a senior exemption and 184 seniors may be eligible for a senior freeze - two ex-emptions that could reduce their tax bill.

Per Illinois law, the annual Tax Sale traditionally is conducted 13 months after the due date but was delayed because of the COVID-19 pandemic. Pappas plans to conduct the sale for 2019 unpaid taxes in May and for the 2020 taxes in No-
